The homeowner, W/M Jerry Starr, stated that an unknown suspect was currently trying to break into his car. When I arrived, I observed a white male with no shirt on the front lawn of the address walking from the front door to the black vehicle in the driveway. I asked the white male, later identified as W/M Austin Funk, if he lived there and he said "no, I'm just visiting friends." I advised Funk he was being detained and he was immediately placed into handcuffs and when I asked him who lives at this address, he said he did not know. Funk was also unable to tell me what address he was currently at. When I asked Funk if the homeowner would know him, he said "I hope so". While putting my gloves on, Funk stated "you can have my pocket, my wallet is in my pocket." I confirmed with Funk that he was giving me consent to go into his pocket for his ID, and he stated, "yes sir". When I pulled out his wallet from his front left pants pocket, I opened it and discovered a South Carolina DL with Funk's picture and name on it. I asked Funk if this was his ID to which he replied "No sir, that's not a real ID. I'm waiting for my real ID in the mail". I confirmed with Funk that he would give me his real information so that I could identify him for the purpose of this stop, which he advised he would. I then read Funk his constitutional warnings from a BRPD issued card and he advised he was willing to speak with me. Funk said he was drinking at O'Briens (a local bar) with his friends and had been trying to find his friend's house, who allegedly lives around the corner from the house we were at. Funk once again could not tell me the address of the house we were at. I then asked Funk why he has the fictitious South Carolina DL in his possession to which he answered it was because he uses it to get drinks (Funk is below the age of 21). I asked Funk how the DL was "fake" and he advised it is fake because it has his face on it and
