The Person taken into custody... ☒ committed the below acts in my presence. ☐ was observed by MYSELF who told MYSELF that he/she saw the arrested person commit the below acts. ☐ confessed to admitting to the below facts. ☐ was found to have committed the below acts, resulting from my (described) investigation. On the 2 day of March, 2023 at 05:29 (Specifically include facts constituting cause for arrest.)
C A U S E	On Thursday, March 2, 2023 at approximately 0222 hours, I responded as a backup Officer in reference to a traffic stop. As I approached the scene, I made contact with Police Sergeant Council who was speaking with the driver outside of the vehicle. Please report back to Police Sergeant Council's Supplemental Probable Cause Affidavit as reference. It was at that time that I made contact with the driver myself, and began my investigation.
	During the course of speaking with the driver, and sole occupant of the vehicle, Edward A. Moore (W/M DOB 09/29/1982), he appeared to be extremely confused and was unable to answer a single question that I asked of him. Officers asked Moore if he would be willing to perform certain tasks that would be used to determine if he was okay enough to safely operate a vehicle and drive home. Moore told Officers, "Whatever you need me to do". I then instructed Moore to the visible fog line to start the tasks. I noticed that Moore was unable to walk in a straight line, and wandered off two times when told where to stand on the indicated line.
S T A T E M E N T	During the instructional phase of the first task I asked Moore to perform, the Horizontal Gaze Nystagmus (HGN), Moore failed to follow instructions as they were being given. I observed Moore sway to the left and right several times as he stood with his feet together on the white line, with his hands down at his side. I explained to Moore to follow the tip of my pen with his eyes and eyes only; not to move his head. After giving the instructions, I asked Moore if he had any questions, in which he stated "No, I do not". I then began to perform the task, and observed Moore stare directly at my right thumb instead of the tip of the pen. I had to direct Moore to look at the tip of my pen and not my thumb. Moore continued to look at my thumb, and for a second time, I had to stop the task, and redirect Moore to look at the tip of my pen. Moore began to argue with me, stating that he was looking at the tip of my pen, but my "Thumb was covering the tip of the pen". Moore then shortly followed with, "Okay, now I can see the tip of your pen". We then restarted the task, and I observed Moore's eyes shaking as I extended the pen outward to the right, then brought it to the middle and then extended back outward to the left. During this task, Moore repeatedly moved his head back and forth and swayed from side to side. It should also be noted that Moore's eyes were extremely glossy, red and he was squinting at times to focus.

During the instructional phase of the second task I asked Moore to perform, the Walk and Turn, Moore failed to follow instructions as they were being given. I instructed Moore to the starting position by telling him to place his left foot on the line, then his right foot on the line ahead of his left, with the heel of his right foot against the toe of his left, with his arms at his side. While I was giving the rest of the instructions for this task, I observed Moore's inability to keep both feet on the visible fog line. He kept removing his right foot off of the line, and off to the side, next to his left foot. Then he attempted to place his right foot in front of his left, but in efforts to do so he almost fell. Moore was able to regain his balance, by bringing his arms straight out to the side and his palms facing down. Moore then placed his left foot on the line, crooked, and then placed his right foot in front of his left, leaving a large gap between both feet. I asked Moore if he had any questions before starting the task, and he stated "No, I don't". Once I told him to begin, Moore looked at me. He continued to look at me for approximately 10 seconds before I asked him why he was not starting the task. Moore, still staring at me, said "I'm not sure what you want me to do". I told him to just perform the task to the best of his knowledge. Moore then threw his arms up in the air, became agitated, and said "I don't know what you want me to do". I then stated that I wanted him to perform the task to the best of his knowledge, based on the instructions I had just given. Moore looked at me, again threw his arms up in the air, and then began walking normally down the line, without placing his left foot on the line, with the heel of his right foot against the tip of his left foot. Moore did not count out loud, as also instructed, and just continued to walk to the end of the fog line where he stopped, turned around and looked at me. Moore continued to look at me for approximately 5 seconds before I asked him if he was finished with the task. Moore stated, "I don't know, I don't know what you want me to do. I think I did it".

During the instructional phase of the third task I asked Moore to perform, the One Leg Stand, Moore failed to follow instructions as they were being given. Once I finished giving instructions to Moore, I asked if he understood what I just explained to him. Moore said, "I think so", and with that I told him he could begin the task. Moore instead looked at me, and stated "I don't know what you want me to do". I asked him if he understood the instructions I just told him, and he said "I do, but I don't know what you want me to do". I told him that I wanted him to perform the task to the best of his ability. Moore then said "Okay", and with his right foot placed off to the right of the visible fog line, he raised his left foot more than six inches off of the ground, with his knee bent straight up. Moore had his arms out to his side, and used them as balance, for he was swaying back and forth. As soon as Moore lifted his left foot off the ground, and counted to "1001", he brought his foot back down, almost falling over. After Moore put his left foot back down, he looked at me, and then lifted his left foot back up more than six inches off of the ground, with his knee bent and arms out to the side. Moore did not count out loud, and continued to bring his foot down. I was in fear that if Moore continued this task, he would fall over due to the intensity of his swaying. During the instructional phase of the fourth task I asked Moore to perform, the Finger to Nose, Moore failed to follow instructions as they were being given. When I instructed Moore to stand with his index fingers pointed out, I had to explain several times not to have any other fingers pointing out, besides his index. Moore continued to keep his left thumb out, after I explained the instructions. I yet again explained the instructions to him, and after I asked if he understood everything I just explained, Moore stated, "I do". We then began the task. During the task Moore did not tilt his head back but had it normally positioned where his face was facing straight out. Moore did have his eyes closed, but I had to remind him twice to bring his index finger back down after he touched the tip of his nose. After I said "left", he kept his index finger at his nose. I told him to bring it back down. Once I said "right", he kept his finger at his nose, and I reminded him again to bring his index finger back down once done. I then said "left" and he kept his index finger at his nose without bringing it back down. I stated "right", and Moore brought his left index finger down, but kept his right index finger at his nose without bringing it back down. I told him "right" and he quickly brought his right index finger down, lifted his left arm approximately half way up, quickly brought it back down and re-raised his right index finger to his nose without bringing it back down afterwards. I stated "left", and he re-brought his left index finger up, without bringing it back down once he was finished touching the tip of his nose. During the instructional phase of the fifth and final task I asked of Moore, the Rhomberg Alphabet, Moore did not follow instructions as they were being given. Once I finished giving instructions, I asked Moore if he understood what I just told him, and he said "I think so". I then told Moore that he could begin the task. Moore looked at me and stated again, "I don't know what you want me to do". I told Moore to just complete the task to the best of his ability, and Moore still stated that he did not know what to do. I repeated my instructions again to Moore, and he looked at me puzzled. I asked if he now understood the instructions, and he said he did. I told Moore he could begin the task, and he stated the alphabet as follows: "a, b, c, d, e, f, g, h, I, j, k, l, m, n, o, p, h, I, j, k, l, m, n, o, p, q, r, s, t, u, v, w, x, y, z". Moore recited the alphabet in a non-rhythmic manner until he got to "l, m, n, o, p", in which he sang the rest. Based on my overall investigation, the totality of the circumstances, I placed Moore under arrest for suspicion of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of an unknown controlled substance or alcoholic beverage. Moore was placed in handcuffs which were double locked and checked for tightness. He was walked to my marked patrol car where he was searched thoroughly before being placed in the backseat of the car. Moore was wearing a black shirt, grey shorts black shoes. Moore's car was towed by Gardens towing without incident. Moore was transported to PBSO Breath Alcohol Testing Center (BAT) without incident. Moore was issued a traffic citation for DUI - AG3WRAE Citation, as well as a citation for refusing to sign and or accept a citation (AG3WRBE). Based on the results of my investigation, I had probable cause to believe that Edward A. Moore was in violation of F.S.S. 316.193(1)(A); a person is guilty of the offense of driving under the influence and is subject to punishment as provided in subsection (2) if the person is driving or in actual physical control of a vehicle within this state and the person is under the influence of alcoholic beverages, and chemical substance set forth in F.S.S. 877.111, or any substance controlled under chapter 893, when affected to the extent that the person's normal faculties are impaired. Moore was placed in the holding cell and observed the entire time while I completed my necessary paperwork. Moore refused to perform the breath test at 0411 hours and again refused after being read implied consent. Moore was turned over to Palm Beach County Jail Personnel without incident. Prior to and after transport, my marked patrol vehicle was searched for illegal substances and contraband. No further information at this time.

Other Observations:

Failed to follow any type of instruction that was given to him.

WALK & TURN:

During the instructional phase of the second task I asked Moore to perform, the Walk and Turn, Moore failed to follow instructions as they were being given. I instructed Moore to the starting position by telling him to place his left foot on the line, then his right foot on the line ahead of his left, with the heel of his right foot against the toe of his left, with his arms at his side. While I was giving the rest of the instructions for this task, I observed Moore's inability to keep both feet on the visible fog line. He kept removing his right foot off of the line, and off to the side, next to his left foot. Then he attempted to place his right foot in front of his left, but in efforts to do so he almost fell. Moore was able to regain his balance, by bringing his arms straight out to the side and his palms facing down. Moore then placed his left foot on the line, crooked, and then placed his right foot in front of his left, leaving a large gap between both feet. I asked Moore if he had any questions before starting the task, and he stated "No, I don't". Once I told him to begin, Moore looked at me. He continued to look at me for approximately 10 seconds before I asked him why he was not starting the task. Moore, still staring at me, said "I'm not sure what you want me to do". I told him to just perform the task to the best of his knowledge. Moore then threw his arms up in the air, became agitated, and said "I don't know what you want me to do". I then stated that I wanted him to perform the task to the best of his knowledge, based on the instructions I had just given. Moore looked at me, again threw his arms up in the air, and then began walking normally down the line, without placing his left foot on the line, with the heel of his right foot against the tip of his left foot. Moore did not count out loud, as also instructed, and just continued to walk to the end of the fog line where he stopped, turned around and looked at me. Moore continued to look at me for approximately 5 seconds before I asked him if he was finished with the task. Moore stated, "I don't know, I don't know what you want me to do. I think I did it".

ONE LEG STAND:

During the instructional phase of the third task I asked Moore to perform, the One Leg Stand, Moore failed to follow instructions as they were being given. Once I finished giving instructions to Moore, I asked if he understood what I just explained to him. Moore said, "I think so", and with that I told him he could begin the task. Moore instead looked at me, and stated "I don't know what you want me to do". I asked him if he understood the instructions just told him, and he said "I do, but I don't know what you want me to do". I told him that I wanted him to perform the task to the best of his ability. Moore then said "Okay", and with his right foot placed off to the right of the visible fog line, he raised his left foot more than six inches off of the ground, with his knee bent straight up. Moore had his arms out to his side, and used them as balance, for he was swaying back and forth. As soon as Moore lifted his left foot off the ground, and counted to "1001", he brought his foot back down, almost falling over. After Moore put his left foot back down, he looked at me, and then lifted his left foot back up more than six inches off of the ground, with his knee bent and arms out to the side. Moore did not count out loud, and continued to bring his foot down. I was in fear that if Moore continued this task, he would fall over due to the intensity of his swaying.

FINGER TO NOSE:

During the instructional phase of the fourth task I asked Moore to perform, the Finger to Nose, Moore failed to follow instructions as they were being given. When I instructed Moore to stand with his index fingers pointed out, I had to explain several times not to have any other fingers pointing out, besides his index. Moore continued to keep his left thumb out, after I explained the instructions. I yet again explained the instructions to him, and after I asked if he understood everything I just explained, Moore stated, "I do". We then began the task. During the task Moore did not tilt his head back but had it normally positioned where his face was facing straight out. Moore did have his eyes closed, but I had to remind him twice to bring his index finger back down after he touched the tip of his nose. After I said "left", he kept his index finger at his nose. I told him to bring it back down. Once I said "right", he kept his finger at his nose, and I reminded him again to bring his index finger back down once done. I then said "left" and he kept his index finger at his nose without bringing it back down. I stated "right", and Moore brought his left index finger down, but kept his right index finger at his nose without bringing it back down. I told him "right" and he quickly brought his right index finger down, lifted his left arm approximately half way up, quickly brought it back down and re-raised his right index finger to his nose without bringing it back down afterwards. I stated "left", and he re-brought his left index finger up, without bringing it back down once he was finished touching the tip of his nose.

ROMBERG ALPHABET:

During the instructional phase of the fifth task I asked Moore to perform, the Romberg Alphabet, Moore did not follow instructions as they were being given. Once I finished giving instructions, I asked Moore if he understood what I just told him, and he said "I think so". I then told Moore that he could begin the task. Moore looked at me and stated again, "I don't know what you want me to do". I told Moore to just complete the task to the best of his ability, and Moore still stated that he did not know what to do. I repeated my instructions again to Moore, and he looked at me puzzled. I asked if he now understood the instructions, and he said he did. I told Moore he could begin the task, and he stated the alphabet as follows: "a, b, c, d, e, f, g, h, i, j, k, l, m, n, o, p, h, i, j, k, l, m, n, o, p, q, r, s, t, u, v, w, x, y, z". Moore recited the alphabet in a non-rhythmic manner until he got to "l, m, n, o, p", in which he sang the rest.
