NARRATIVE: The undersigned has probable cause to believe the above-named defendant on the 14 of April 2024 at 0:00 at DANIELS RD & FOWLERS GROVE BLVD (Zone: wgp24) in Orange County did
On April 14, 2024, at approximately 0017 hours, I, Officer Shipley, responded to the intersection of Daniels Rd. and Fowlers Grove Blvd. in reference to a white male wearing a blue shirt and shorts asleep in their vehicle while in a turn lane. Upon my arrival, I observed a gray Ford Explorer (FL tag: JLTZ89) facing east on Fowlers Grove Blvd, preparing to turn north onto Daniels Rd. I then positioned my car in front of the Explorer, and while doing so, I observed the male in the driver's seat preparing to get out. Once the male, later identified as Erick Rainville (date of birth (DOB): 5/28/1971), was identified, I asked him if he was alright. Almost immediately, I could smell the scent of an alcoholic beverage coming from him, and the scent would grow stronger as he spoke. Eric advised that he was okay and that his car just stopped working. I noticed that Eric had some dried blood on his forehead and asked him about it. Eric claimed that he was fine and later advised that the complainant (NOI) had struck his vehicle, causing his head to hit the steering wheel. I asked the complainant if they struck Eric's vehicle, which they declined, and there were no signs of recent vehicle damage on the vehicle. I asked Eric where he was going, and he claimed that he was going home from Chilis. When asked if he consumed any alcohol today, Eric claimed that he didn't, and the last time he consumed alcohol was the day prior, around 2000 hours. Shortly after, the Winter Garden Fire Department (WGFD) arrived, and he was temporarily turned over to their care. Later, WGFD cleared the scene once Eric refused treatment. When asked for his driver's license, Eric began to hand over a green Visa credit card when I informed him I needed his driver's license again. Eric then provided me with it, and when I asked him if he would answer some medical questions, Eric later agreed. Prior to beginning the exercise, it was determined that Eric does not wear contacts or glasses. He was not diabetic, taking insulin, epileptic, or ill in any way. Eric claimed that he was not under the care of a doctor or dentist, and he was not taking any over-the-counter prescription medication or drugs. Eric did not have any physical disabilities, speech impediments, or injuries, and there were no obvious signs of physical injury. He did not have any artificial limbs or a glass eye. When asked about previous head injuries, Eric refused to advise what his prior head injury was, but he kept saying that it was nothing when I attempted to inquire further. Eric did have a pollen allergy, but he was not having any problems with it. When asked what time he last ate, Eric refused to answer but claimed that he last ate ribs. When asked when he last slept, Eric refused to say when he last slept. When asked if there was anything wrong with his vehicle, Eric stated that it just wouldn't start. Eric was unable to advise on what was wrong with his vehicle. He was advised to say what time it was without looking at his phone, where he stated that it was 0015 hours; the actual time was 0037. Eric stated that he works at a restaurant called Tarasco. Lastly, Eric was asked to rate himself on a scale of 0 to 10, with 0 being sober and 10 being impaired, where he claimed to be a 0. While speaking with Elmer-Gabriel, I observed his blue eyes to be watery, and I detected the distinct scent of an alcoholic beverage coming from his facial area. Horizontal Gaze Nystagmus Exercise: Prior to beginning the exercise, Eric's eyes were checked and displayed equal tracking, and his pupils were equal in size. Eric was instructed to place his feet together so that he was standing heel-to-heel and toe-to-toe and to keep his arms to his side. Eric was instructed to follow the stimulus, the illuminated blue tip of my pen light, with his eyes only. He was instructed to keep his head still during the exercise. After stating that he understood the instructions, Eric attempted the exercise. I observed Eric's eyes to have a lack of smooth pursuit, and his eyes displayed distinct and sustained nystagmus at maximum deviation and onset of nystagmus prior to 45 degrees. At times during the exercise, Eric would rotate his upper torso to follow the stimulus. Eric had to be reminded countless times to keep his head still while following the stimulus. At times, Eric would also not follow the stimulus and just stare straight ahead. Eric's blue eyes appeared watery; he had an orbital sway to his stance, and I detected the distinct scent of an alcoholic beverage coming from his facial area.

Walk-and-turn exercise:

Prior to attempting the exercise, Eric claimed that he did not have any medical problems that would have prevented him from performing the exercise. Eric was instructed to put his left foot on the line and his right foot in front of it, with his right heel touching the toe of his left foot. Eric was instructed to stand in the manner with his hands by his side until told to start, and he advised that he understood the instructions so far. Eric was instructed to take nine heel-to-toe steps along the line (the white line of a lane divider). Once at the ninth step, Eric was instructed to turn around on his front foot by taking a series of small steps so that he was facing the line again. He was then instructed to take another nine heel-to-toe steps back along the line. Eric was instructed to watch his feet at all times while walking, keep his arms down to his side, and count his steps out loud. He was also instructed not to stop the exercise once it began. After the exercise was demonstrated, Eric stated that he understood the instructions and was told to begin.

While providing the instructions, Eric was unable to maintain the starting position and eventually just stood normally. After the instructions were provided, Eric claimed that he did not want to partake in the exercise. I then informed him of the observations I had made. I then asked Eric if he wished to continue the exercise, and he eventually agreed to partake in it after the instructions were explained again. I then attempted to explain the instructions again, but Eric proceeded to take steps down the line prior to being told to start. Once the instructions were explained again, Eric was instructed to start. Eric proceeded to miss every heel-to-toe step going down the line before conducting an improper turn. Eric then missed every heel-to-toe step, going back down the line and ending on his tenth step.

One-leg stand exercise:

Prior to beginning the exercise, Eric stated that he did not have any medical problems that would have prevented him from performing the exercise. Eric was instructed to stand with his feet together and hands to his side while the instructions were given. Eric was instructed not to begin until told to do so and after the exercise was demonstrated. When instructed to start, he was to raise the foot of his choice off the ground, approximately 6 inches. While his leg was raised, he was to keep it straight, his toe pointed, and his foot parallel to the ground. He was instructed to watch his raised foot and count out loud by thousands (one thousand one, one thousand two, one thousand three, etc.) and continue the exercise until told to stop (30 seconds). After this exercise was demonstrated and Eric stated that he understood the instruction, he then attempted the exercise.

Prior to being told to begin, Eric would start to raise his left foot before being told to, and he had to be instructed to wait until all directions were provided. Once told to begin, Eric raised his foot below six inches and put it down almost immediately. When asked if he understood the instructions, Eric claimed that he did and attempted the exercise again. Eric once again raised his foot off the ground momentarily before placing it back on the ground while not counting or looking at his foot.

Based on my investigation and observations at the scene, it was determined that Eric was under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs to the point where his normal faculties were impaired. Eric was secured in handcuffs that were double-locked and checked for tightness. Eric was then escorted to my marked patrol vehicle, where I conducted a search of his person, incident to arrest, for any weapons and/or paraphernalia. My search yielded negative results. Eric's vehicle was towed by Slys Towing, and Eric was later transported to the DUI testing center without incident.
