DUI PROBABLE CAUSE AFFIDAVIT

Subject: James H. M. Jewett Case Number: 2023-0002090

Roadside Tasks

Horizontal Gaze Nystagmus

- ■ Left Eye Does Not Follow Smoothly
- ■ Left Eye Jerks at 45 Degree Angle or Less
- ■ Distinct Jerking Left Eye at Maximum Deviation
- ■ Right Eye Does Not Follow Smoothly
- ■ Right Eye Jerks at 45 Degree Angle or Less
- ■ Distinct Jerking Right Eye at Maximum Deviation

I then checked Jewett for Horizontal Gaze Nystagmus. Jewett advised he did not wear glasses or contacts. I advised Jewett to keep his head completely still and to follow the tip of my finger with his eyes and only his eyes. I observed Jewett swaying during the instructional and practical portion of this exercise, failing to maintain the starting position as instructed. Jewett had to be reminded multiple times to keep his head still, failing to follow instructions.

Walk and Turn Task

I led Jewett to a straight and defined line in the roadway, located just north of the intersection, on Division Ave. I pointed this line out to Jewett and asked him if he saw a straight line on the pavement, to which he advised he did. I instructed Jewett to stand with his left foot on the line and the heel of his right foot touching the toe of he left foot. I then demonstrated this to Jewett and instructed him to remain in this pose until instructed to begin the task. Jewett initially assumed the starting position but had to be reminded to maintain the starting position while I was instructing him in the task. I then instructed him in how to complete the Walk and Turn task. I instructed Jewett to take a total of nine heel to toe steps along the previously defined line, counting each step out loud, then to turn by taking a number of small steps, and take nine heel to toe steps back down the defined line, while counting each step out loud. I then demonstrated five steps, then I demonstrated the turn, and then I demonstrated three steps returning, while counting out loud in the instructed manner. Jewett advised he understood the instructions. While I was instructing Jewett, I observed a distinct sway while in the instructional position. Jewett failed to maintain the instructional position, losing his balance, and began the task prior to be instructed to do so. During the task, Jewett stepped off the line multiple times and failed to step heel to toe multiple times. Jewett lost his balance and did not perform the turn as instructed. Jewett took a total of 17 steps from the initial starting point, before asking if he should continue, and then took another 5 steps, completing a total of 22 steps. Jewett then turned to face me and asked what to do. I repeated the instructions and advised him to complete his 9 heel to toe steps back down the line. Jewett took 17 steps back down the line before I stopped him, failing to touch heel to toe, losing his balance, and not counting allowed as instructed.

One Leg Stand

I then instructed Jewett to stand with his feet together and his arms down at his sides. I demonstrated this position. I instructed Jewett to maintain this position while I instructed him in the task and to not start the task until told to do so. I then instructed and demonstrated the One Leg Stand Task. I instructed Jewett to, when told, raise one leg approximately six inches off the ground, keeping his raised foot parallel to the ground. I instructed Jewett to hold this position and count out loud as so: one one thousand, two one thousand, and so on until told to stop. I instructed Jewett to watch his foot throughout the task and to pick his foot back up and continue should he lower his foot to the ground for any reason. Jewett had to be reminded to stand in the instructional position and began the task prior to being instructed. Jewett advised he understood the instructions as given. I then told Jewett to begin. Jewett began the task but failed to keep his foot in the instructed position, losing his balance multiple times. I timed Jewett for thirty seconds utilizing my watch, during which time he displayed a distinct sway, stared directly at me, held his foot off the ground with his leg bent at the knee, contrary to my instructions, and moved his arms from the prescribed position in order to maintain balance. Jewett did not count out loud at any point during this task. Prior to being instructed, Jewett lost his balance and refused to complete the task.

Finger To Nose

I had Jewett stand with his feet together and hands down at his sides as I explained the Finger to Nose task. I explained and demonstrated the exercise and Jewett stated he understood the instructions. Jewett demonstrated that he knew his right from his left. I asked the driver to tilt his head back and close his eyes. The sequence preformed was: L, R, L, R, R, L. Jewett utilized the correct hand during each of these prompts. Jewett failed to utilize the tip of his finger, instead utilizing the pad of his finger, despite my explanation specifying the tip of the finger and the tip of the nose. Jewett touched in the general area of the tip of his nose, missing on each iteration. During this task, Jewett displayed a distinct swaying motion while standing. Jewett failed to keep his head tilted backward and opened his eyes slightly, requiring me to remind him to keep his eyes closed. During every iteration, Jewett had to be told to bring his hand back down to his side.

Romberg Balance

I had Jewett stand with his feet together and hands down at his sides as I explained the Rhomberg Alphabet Task. Jewett advised his highest level of education was high school, with a semester of community college and he was confident in his ability to recite the alphabet. I had Jewett demonstrate this ability, and he was able to recite the alphabet correctly in a sing-song manner. I then had Jewett tilt his head back and close his eyes and recite the alphabet in a non-rhythmic manner. Jewett recited the alphabet in a sing-song manner, with the letters as follows: ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ. I observed a distinct sway to Jewett ' s posture as he stood upright during this task.
