I contacted the Palm Beach County Sheriff`s Office and had them email me the current active Order of No Contact along with an active Risk Protection Order in which Giancatarino was supposed to surrender all firearms after threatening to kill himself with a gun. Both were submitted into Evidence.com. I also had Ms. Cavalieri take screen shots of the text messages and submitted them as well as a picture of the vehicle Giancatarino had been driving into Evidence.com also. Ms. Cavalieri was given a case card and signed for a Domestic Violence Pamphlet which she was also given.

I then responded to 117 Reina Way #201 with additional units, which is Giancatarino`s current home address. Upon our arrival, I observed a truck matching the description given by Ms. Cavalieri parked backwards in front of apartment #201 with the engine running, all windows open, and unoccupied. The garage door was halway open and the front door was slightly ajar. I radioed for additional units for officer safety and upon their arrival, we then attempted to make contact with Giancatarino.

Giancatarino came to the door and was placed in handcuffs, which were double locked and checked for proper spacing. Giancatarino was compliant, however, I noted he immediately began sweating profusely and wanted to know why he was being arrested. At this time, Giancatarino had answered the door only wearing shorts and sneakers. When I informed him it was for violating the order of no contact, Giancatarino exclaimed as to why his ex-fiance would do this to him and that she calls him all the time. Giancatarino continued to sweat for the few minutes we were standing by his front door while officers went inside his apartment, with his permission, to find him a shirt and his keys. Giancatarino was given a t-shirt and the keys were found inside the vehicle. The vehicle was able to be secured, however we could not find the house keys and Giancatarino stated to leave the front doo unlocked and that he never locks it anyway.

NARRATIVE

Giancatarino was then transported to the Jupiter Police Department, which was less than one mile away from his residence. Upon our arrival, I discovered there was a female prisoner in our booking area to which, I was making other arrangements to at least have us sit in the car, in AC, in the shade to get the paperwork done. We were at JPD for about five minutes, when Giancatarino began complaining that he was too hot and was dizzy. Giancatarino wanted to go to the hospital to which I them immediately drove him to the Jupiter Medical Center ER. Giancatarino was treated by staff and medically cleared for the jail.

Giancatarino was transported to the Palm Beach County Jail without incident. There is nothing further at this time.
