Document Date: 09/15/2025 — Court Case #:

Defendant's Name: VASHEY, KAREN JEAN — Agency Case Number: 25-052608

NARRATIVE: The undersigned has probable cause to believe the above-named defendant on the, 14 of September 2025 at 22:58 at 2211 DRAKE DR, ORLANDO, FL, 32810 (Zone: 108) in Orange County did

On September 14, 2025, at approximately 2216 hours, I, Deputy Y. Gandia Ares (EID: 10547), responded to 2211 Drake Drive, within Orange County, Florida, in reference to a verbal later determined a battery (Domestic Violence). Both the victim and the defendant refused medical attention while on scene. A female was arrested and transported to Booking and Release Center without incident. My investigation revealed:Describe Relationship: Edward Ronald Vashey (Victim) and Karen Jean Vashey (Defendant) have been married for approximately five years and have been living together as a family.Children present?: None.Describe Injuries: Edward appeared to have a minor abrasion on the right side of his face, on the top of his right hand, and a minor scratch on his forearm. Karen appeared to have long scratches on her left thigh and a minor abrasion on the palm of her left hand. Photographs: Photographs of the scene and Edward's injuries were taken and submitted to Evidence.com via Axon Capture.Other evidence obtained: None. Is there an injunction for protection order in place? No. History of domestic violence?: None documented. Upon arrival, a white male, later identified as Edward Ronald Vashey (Victim), was standing on the front yard of the above-mentioned location and he flagged me down. I made contact with Edward, and he appeared to have a minor abrasion on the right side of his face, on the top of his right hand, and a minor scratch on his forearm. When I asked, Edward refused medical attention, and he stated the following both in a verbal and sworn written statement:Edward stated his wife, later identified as Karen Jean Vashey (Defendant), and he, are currently separated. Edward said he has his own bedroom within the residence and Karen has her own seperate bedroom. Edward stated that on September 14, 2025, prior to the arrival of deputies, he was in his bed, within his bedroom, and Karen was texting him repeatedly. Edward advised he asked Karen to stop texting him several times. Edward told me that Karen then kicked in his bedroom door, jumped on top of him, and began slapping him in the face. Edward said he placed his arms up to block Karen from hitting him and she chased him out of the bedroom. Edward stated he is willing to testify in court, but he is not willing to prosecute criminally against his wife Karen. During my investigation and pursuant to Article I, Section 16, of the Florida Constitution, Edward was explained their "Marsy's Law" - Crime Victim Rights and decided to invoke their victim confidentiality rights in writing via the Victim Confidentiality Request Form.Karen was standing by the front door of the residence during my interaction with Edward and she did originally call 911. I made contact with Karen shortly after speaking with Edward, and she appeared to have long scratches on her left thigh and a minor abrasion on the palm of her left hand. When I asked, Karen refused medical attention, and she stated the following both in a verbal and sworn written statement:Karen stated she called the Police tonight because her husband "Eddie" and she have been fighting since yesterday. She said "Eddie" called her at work and was "verbally abusive". Karen advised they argued for a while and she told him that she could not take it anymore, that she wanted a divorce. Karen said that tonight "Eddie" was upset because she was leaving him and he began throwing things inside of his room. Karen told me she went inside his room to calm him down, but he told her to get out and shoved her out of the room. Karen told me that Edward never hit her, only shoved her, and that the scratches were from their dog. She said the dog can be overprotective, and the dog did appear to get aggressive toward me until she placed it in her room. Karen also confirmed that Edward does have his own room within the residence, and she has her own separate room. Because Edward stated that Karen kicked his bedroom door, I inspected his room's door, locking mechanism, and doorframe, and the door did appear to have damage near the locking mechanism, as if it was forcefully opened. Pictures of the door were taken and submitted to Evidence.com via Axon Capture. Based on the damaged door being consistent with Edward's statement, I secured Karen into double-locked handcuffs and placed her in the back of my marked patrol vehicle.Based on Edward's verbal and sworn written statement, his injuries, and the damage to his bedroom door, probable cause was established to charge Karen per FSS 784.03-10, Battery (Domestic Violence). Karen actually and intentionally touched or struck her husband Edward by kicking in his bedroom door, jumping on top of him, and slapping him in the face, causing a minor abrasion on the right side of his face, on the top of his right hand, and a minor scratch on his forearm. Karen was placed under arrest and transported to the Booking and Release Center without incident.My agency issued BWC was activated during my investigation.
