Defendant's Name FALABELLA, PABLO DANIEL Agency Case Number: 23-28661

NARRATIVE: The undersigned has probable cause to believe the above-named defendant on the 07 of May 2023 at 16:13 at 2901 OSCEOLA PY (Zone: 61 ) in Orange County did

On Sunday, May 7, 2023, at 1613, I, Deputy Gallon, responded to Walt Disney World's Animal Kingdom theme park in reference to an altercation between a cast member and guest. Upon my arrival, I met with the victim, suspect, and witness.. At a result of my investigation, I developed probable cause to make a physical arrest for battery. The defendant was transported to the Orange County Jail and transferred into the custody of the Orange County Corrections Department. My investigation revealing the following: Upon my arrival, I was met by Deputy Andrew Histen (8254) who was working in the theme park in an off duty capacity. Deputy Histen did not witness any portion of the incident, however he relayed to me that he was notified over the Walt Disney World (WDW) radio of an altercation between a cast member and guest, and responded to the Dinoland USA area of the theme park, where I would later meet him. WDW security and leadership were also on scene. I was advised of an irate male guest whose child had been briefly lost. The guest was upset over how the WDW handled the situation and during the course of heated conversation, spat in the face of a cast member. I first spoke with [redacted] whom I identified via her Florida driver license. The following is a synopsis of what [redacted] stated to me verbally and in her sworn written statement: Sometime during the 3 o'clock hour, [redacted] was notified a child unattended in a stroller in the area of Dinoland USA. Out of an abundance of caution, a cast member re-location the child to a nearby air conditioned lobby. As [redacted] was coordinating the situation with a duty manager, a male came in, yelling in Spanish. She assumed and ultimately determined he was the child's father. The male, later identified as Pablo Daniel Falabella, was upset that the child had been moved from the original location. As [redacted] spoke to Pablo and was trying to calm him down, Pablo was jumping up and down as well as kicking and hitting the wall. [redacted] also alleged that Pablo spat in her face. This detail was obviously the most troubling aspect of the altercation [redacted] described, and I asked additional questions to clarify the specific nature of the spitting. In her response, [redacted] was able to clarify that Pablo spitting at her was not the result of him speaking to her in an agitated manner. [redacted] stated she understood Pablo's manic behavior over the well-being of his child and her goal was to de-escalate the situation. She also recognized there was a language barrier, due to the fact she could not understand what he was saying. [redacted] would go on to say that Pablo spitting in her face, was completely independent of these circumstances. Upon further questioning, [redacted] again emphasized the deliberate act, stating she did not mistake it for something that happened as a result of his rapid and animated talking. [redacted] did not sustain any injuries. [redacted] stated she would prefer to prosecute criminally, and is willing to testify in court. She was provided with a copy of the "A Guide For Victims and Witnesses" pamphlet, to include the Marsy's Law addendum and requested victim confidentiality. Next, I spoke with [redacted] whom I identified via her Florida driver license. [redacted] is also a cast member and was a witness to the altercation. The following is a synopsis of what she stated both verbally and in her sworn written statement: [redacted] was walking through Dinoland USA, on her way to he position in Asia, when she was approached by a woman, saying a male guest had lost his child. [redacted] then made contact with Pablo and attempted to get as much information as she could. This was made difficult by that fact that he was running all over the place and would not stop. [redacted] was in the process of calling security when she was notified that the child had been located and was at Restarantosaurus dining area. By that time the child's mother was also on scene, and [redacted] led everyone to the restaurant. When Pablo entered, he began acting aggressively and was angry his [redacted] year old daughter had been moved. [redacted] stated that has he stood in front of [redacted], Pablo spat in her face multiple times. I also asked [redacted] to characterize or describe the spitting in more detail, and her response did not differ from [redacted]s in any significant way: Pablo deliberately spat at [redacted] in such way that could not be misinterpreted or mistaken as an accident or incidental, as a result of his animated demeanor. [redacted] also witnessed Pablo jumping up and down, as well as kicking and punching the wall. She is willing to testify in court, if necessary. Finally, I spoke with Pablo, whom I identified via his Argentina identification card. Pablo's primary language is Spanish, so I had a WDW security officer present to assist with translation. My BWC was activated for the entirety of my interview with Pablo. Pablo stated he was on vacation with his wife and two daughters [redacted] His wife and eldest daughter planned to go on one of the attractions in Dinoland USA and then do a child swap, so he could ride, and the wife could stay with the younger daughter, who did not met the ride requirements. Apparently, there was some kind of miscommunication, and the younger daughter was left unattended for a time (possibly between 15 to 30 minutes) outside of Restaurantosaurus. Pablo stated he had no concerns about the child being there because he assumed there were cameras. He was also under the impression that his wife was with the child. Once it was determined that his daughter had been located and was in good health, Pablo was upset over how WDW handled the situation, and more specifically the fact that his daughter had been moved from the location where he last knew her to be. Prior to asking him clarifying questions, Pablo was read his "Warnings of Constitutional Rights" from an agency card, and subsequently agreed to continue speaking with me. As we continued our conversation, it was notable that Pablo denied any aggressive behavior towards cast members, or anyone else. He also stated he did not spit on anyone. He did reiterate that was unhappy with how the situation was handled. It should be noted, that even in my interview, Pablo was quite animated, gesturing with his hands and entire body as he described what happened. Pablo's home address in Argentina is as follows: Craig 847 Caballitio Ciudad de Buenos Aires As a result of my investigation, there is probable cause to believe Pablo committed the offense of battery by spitting on [redacted] Pablo as issued a trespass warning for all of WDW property. I secured him in handcuffs which were double locked and checked for proper application. I transported to the Orange County jail without incident. There is no additional information at this time.
