PROBABLE CAUSE STATEMENT

The undersigned certifies and swears that I have just and reasonable grounds to believe, and do believe that the above named Defendant committed the listed violation(s) of law. The Person taken into custody:

- ☐ Committed the below acts in my presence.
- ☐ Confessed to [WITNESS] admitting to the below facts.
- ☐ Was observed by [WITNESS] who told [WITNESS] that he/she saw the arrested person commit the below acts.
- ☒ Was found to have committed the below acts, resulting from my (described) investigation.

On August 1st, 2026 at approximately 07:53, I responded to [redacted] Florida [redacted] regarding a domestic dispute between [redacted] date of birth [redacted] and Zulley Samaniego, date of birth January 18, 1992.

Upon arrival, I made contact with Samaniego in the driveway. She stated the property was hers, she was the mortgage holder, and she was supposed to move in that day. When I asked where her belongings were, Samaniego said they would be in a truck, but she had not brought them yet. She stated [redacted] was supposed to help her move and take apart beds.

I asked Samaniego why [redacted] would not let her in the house. She stated he was with another woman inside. Samaniego confirmed she currently lived at [redacted] with her children, ages six and eight, and that property was being rented. She stated [redacted] told her to move out of the Fountain Road property and move into the [redacted] residence with him. When I asked if she planned to move in with [redacted] and his girlfriend, Samaniego said yes and that she did not care about the girlfriend because the property was hers.

I then spoke with [redacted] at the front door. [redacted] stated he and Samaniego owned two houses together, with his name on the [redacted] property and her name on the [redacted] property. He stated they had issues after Samaniego found someone else. [redacted] said Samaniego made him move out of the [redacted] residence and he now lived at the [redacted] location. He stated they had discussed Samaniego possibly renting a room upstairs to co-parent, but that arrangement could no longer happen. [redacted] stated Samaniego came to the property the previous night when the doors were unlocked and stayed until deputies arrived. He said she left, he returned, and then she came back at approximately 05:00 or 06:00 that morning knocking on his door. [redacted] stated he had video of her at the door.

[redacted] confirmed both parties' names were on the deeds to both properties. He stated he did not want Samaniego at the [redacted] residence and would not open the door for her. I advised both parties this was a civil matter requiring court resolution. I explained to Samaniego that forcing entry into the residence where [redacted] did not want her, especially with another woman present, would likely result in a physical altercation and criminal charges. I advised her she was creating a dangerous situation for herself and her children.

Samaniego stated [redacted] had been breaking into the [redacted] property, slashed her tires, and committed other aggressive acts. She said she called law enforcement previously but was told [redacted] could not be arrested for trespassing on property he owned. Samaniego stated she attempted to obtain a restraining order.

I advised Samaniego she could legally be on the property but could not force [redacted] to open the door. My partner advised both parties they needed to resolve the property dispute through the court system, either by forcing sale of both properties or one party buying out the other. [redacted] stated he did not have money to buy out Samaniego's interest.

During my conversation with Samaniego, she stated she would not leave until [redacted] paid child support. I advised her she was putting herself and her children in danger by forcing this situation. I explained that when a domestic incident occurred, she would likely be the primary aggressor because she was forcing the issue by coming to the residence knowing [redacted] did not want her there and another woman was present.

[redacted] stated he needed to leave for work and wanted to prepare outside while keeping his girlfriend inside with the doors locked. He expressed concern that Samaniego was waiting for the girlfriend to leave so she could confront her. I offered to remain on scene while the girlfriend departed to prevent a physical altercation.

I provided both parties with case number and advised them to seek legal counsel to resolve the property dispute. I warned both parties that continued contact would likely result in a physical altercation and arrests under Florida domestic violence statutes. Throughout the contact, Samaniego remained in the driveway and [redacted] remained inside the residence with the door locked.

Later that day at approximately 14:17, I returned to the scene. [redacted] stated that after deputies left earlier, Samaniego approached his truck in the driveway as he attempted to leave the property. [redacted] provided video evidence showing the incident. The video depicted Samaniego grabbing [redacted] keys and pushing him to prevent him from leaving the property. [redacted] stated Samaniego made several attempts to prevent him from leaving by standing inside his truck, then attempted to push him and grab his keys. [redacted] did not have any visible injuries but provided video documentation of the physical contact.

Based on [redacted] statement, the video evidence, and the earlier contact where Samaniego forced the confrontation despite warnings, I determined Samaniego was the primary aggressor in the incident. The battery occurred near [redacted] truck in the driveway after he attempted to leave the property. Samaniego intentionally grabbed [redacted] keys and pushed him, constituting unlawful touching under Florida Statute 784.03(1)(a)(1). I placed Samaniego under arrest at 14:17 for battery. She was unarmed and did not require medical attention.

I further acknowledge that I have reviewed the report, made any necessary edits, and believe it to be an accurate representation of my recollection of the reported events. I am willing to testify to the accuracy of this report.
